Important Notice !!!

The undersigned begs to advise the Estancieros, and all interested in sheep, that after an unavoidable delay he is at last received a fresh invoice of the celebrated SOUTH DOWN SHEEP WASH & PURE EXTRACT OF TOBACCO, the most popular and effectual remedy for the Scab in Sheep ever used in this country. For sale wholesale and retail at
Messrs. BARRY and WALKER'S,
Corner of Calle Defensa and Moreno
S. Brown, Buyer for Barry and Walker.

The S. Down Sheep Wash.

A SURE CURE FOR THE SCAB IN SHEEP.

No Sheep-Farmer should be without it.

The valuable preparation which is now used by nearly all the wool growers of this country, is a concentrated extract, one pound of which is equal to ten pounds of tobacco, resulting in the compound form all the properties of the raw material. The only labor required to render the wash ready for using, is to stir the paste into the quantity of cold water, needed for the number of sheep to be dipped.

The many satisfactory recommendations of its perfect safety, simplicity and utility from the principal Estancieros of this country may be had on application at the above establishment.

MOST IMPORTANT

DISCOVERY OF THE DAY

The Sheep-Farmers and the Public in general.

F. C. Calvert's Phenyline & Thercbane's Sheep Salve

The great reputation these specifics have enjoyed in England on account of their extraordinary efficacy in all cases where they have been applied, has induced numerous persons in this country to request the introduction of the immense sheep-farming interest of the country. The Proprietors have much pleasure in stating that the above specifics have been introduced, and the wonderful effects of this Sheep Wash, as a Dip, and Salve, as a Dressing, have been fully proved, and they are now enabled confidently to recommend the same to Sheep-farmers as the most effectual remedies that have ever been introduced to the public for the cure of the Scab in Sheep, and all cutaneous wounds or ulcers, created foot, mange &c. &c. Cows, Horses, and all diseases of the Cattle kind.

For wounds or broken shoulders from saddles and harness, Phenyline is unequalled. Thercbane is the best and most effectual remedy for foot rot, and for preventing blow flies from all the varieties and insects that parents already cured with it. In the city and suburbs Sheep will be cured and delivered in Veterinary who requests it. Sheep dipped at the Estancias, Chacras, &c. &c. Phenyline and Thercbane to be superior to every remedy ever introduced.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1863.

SOUTH AMERICAN SKETCHES

Mr. Hinchliff's new book will find many readers in Buenos Ayres, rather from a curiosity on the part of our English public to see a traveller's impression of us, than from a hope to learn something new. Few indeed who have resided here a couple of years, but are much better acquainted with La Plata than the author of "Summer among the Alps," who came over for a few months, in 1861, note-book in hand, with the avowed intention of writing a book, as his cousin, Sir Woodbine Parish had already done. It is therefore almost superfluous for us to review a work which will have as many critics as readers on this side. But we will lightly glance at its leading features.

To say that it is poorly written, based on imperfect information, or void of interest, would be manifestly untrue; for, we can vouch to having read 120 pages at a sitting, and the spirited narrative, possessing the fluency and ease of conversation, interspersed with some remarks no less true than witty, carried us on with a feeling of pleasure not to be derived from works of instruction, deep and dry. The author is evidently a traveller and a writer. Unlike most Englishmen on first arrival, who find fault with everything not British, he falls readily into the tastes of the country (except mate, which he unjustly abhors), and seeks out the good features of the town and its inhabitants, to form a favourable impression of the commencement.

He praises the civility of Customs-officials, the external cleanliness of the city, the aspect of Plaza Victoria, the public buildings, the religious liberty, the loyalty of the natives, the hospitality of Buenos Ayres, and the general civilization and progress everywhere observable. So far every Spanish reader will feel complimented, but unfortunately Mr. H., like the "Standard," found a number of things not exactly as they ought to be.

Although his sarcastic strictures on the native press, political intriguers, civil wars, official corruption, and the deplorable currency are fully merited, our colleagues will probably term such passages "ungrateful and unfriendly slanders on the country." We should scarcely be surprised if the author were threatened with a prosecution for repeating the remark that "honesty is general, as to one rule, but the Government." His history of the paper-dollar is very amusing, and decidedly the best of all his sketches, showing how Government influence reduced this standard of value by 90 per cent, leaving it worth little more than a paper rag.

The period of his visit being that of Paysu, he gives a disquisition on the politics of the day, and expresses sovereign contempt for the military equipments of the contending parties, including the fortifications of B. Ayres, encampment at Rojas, fleet of Paraná, &c. We quite agree with him, that Argentine military display is such a burlesque, it would be better, even for war-ships, to avoid it altogether. He also holds out good hopes for our prospects in the way of railroads, immigration, and steam-printing; but passes over forcibly the anomaly of a state wherein the majority of wealth, population, industry, intellect, and patriotism, belongs to a class wholly divested of influence or representation in the public destinies, because foreign.

His excursion to the camp is too brief to give any idea of the great field for foreign immigration in this province. A few days' shooting at Monte Grande, and a trip to Mr. Smith's estancia at Merlo, neither being more than seven leagues from town, we may say, the author saw nothing of the Pampas. He gives, however, a good account of Entre Rios, in his visit to Mr. Black's estancia, and takes a glimpse of Banda Oriental at present.

For an interval he carries us away to Rio Janeyro and the Organ Mountains, about which we feel little interest; and then returns to the River Plate, visiting Mr. Thornton at Paraná, just before that place had ceased to be the Argentine metropolis. He makes "honourable mention" of several friends —Consul Parish, Rev. Mr. Poole, Mr. Reed, Mr. Fenderick, Mrs. M'Donald, Mr. Turnbull Clarke, D. Scrivener, Captain Parish, Messrs. Roberts, Anderson, and Beachcroft, Captain Coe, and others.

We almost regret that he did not pay a visit to the "Standard" office before his departure, for if he had submitted his MS. to our correction, or consulted us on those points which he has written from imagination, we should have done him the service above his publication of some inaccuracies which have crept into the sketches. He says, "there are no religious processions in Buenos Ayres, and it is with rare that a priest is the streets," whereas, in truth, we come close on Rome itself in these particulars. He represents Quilmes to be "a very fine-looking man, although one of the most sickly, sullen, splenetic countenances we have ever beheld. He is the Hon. Mr. Parish's large, having never seen Stephen's-green, Dublin, which is 10 times its size, the former being only 140 yards long. Let us only mention a few of the inaccuracies in the statement "that they submit their judgment to the opinion and keeping of a priestly countryman, which Father Hyde, and every Englishman here will regard as an untrue and unprovoked sarcasm.

But we are still more surprised at his sins of omission, for he has not devoted a line to the commerce, geography, resources, administration, or general features of the country. Indeed, as an Englishman, he is silent about most of our national institutions, and ignores a population of 20,000 sheep-farming countrymen.

The sketches are well drawn, with only a few faults, but seem decidedly incomplete, as if written from a note-book. We are glad Mr. Hinchliff would condescend to favour B. Ayres with a second visit, for his writings are entertaining, and, although in their present only fond for criticism, must be calculated to impart considerable information at home, making La Plata (what we so heartily wish it were) well known here.

In recommending the British resident public to read this work, we have only to add that it is put up in Long primer, well-leaded, with six coloured engravings and map. We heartily welcome such publications, and hope Mr. Hinchliff will find himself encouraged or obliged to ask for a second and larger supply of the "South American Sketches."

THE FOREIGN CREDIT BILL

The interesting proceedings of Congress are at present brought to a standstill, by the discussion of the foreign credit clause; the most determined opposition, for what reason we know not, is offered to the 28th article, which authorises the payment of interest and amortisation in London. Notwithstanding, however, the genius of the post, the abuse of the lawyer, or the ridicule of the "Tribuna," it will be passed. A majority has been already ensured. The stupid motives for opposing the measure are so transparent, that it is to be wondered the time of the house is wasted discussing them.

If the law is passed, there cannot be the slightest doubt that the majority of the National Bonds will find their way to London, and thus this country will be enriched by the introduction of at least 7½ per cent of their par value in specie. What, therefore, can justify the opposition of Srs. Gorostiaga and Mariano A. The "Tribuna" says, that trusting to the dignity of the house, it had published the reasons for its opposition out of no way, trusting to the honour, patriotism, and integrity of the members, we feel confident that it will be passed.

THE FLORES' CAMPAIGN.

The rebels and Government troops are experiencing all the various fortunes of war, alternately victors and vanquished, now flushed with triumph, now dejected by reverses. Since Medina's coup de grace at Polanco, where Flores had 3 men killed and 1 drowned, the Blanco party exulted over the destruction of the filibusters. It is now the turn of Goyo Suarez to intone the psalm of propitious Mars, swelling a more skirmish into the total overthrow of Government.

The "Reforma" correspondence from Salto, 17th inst. gives an account of this last feat of arms. General Lamas was encamped at San Antonio with 150 men, having despatched his vanguard of 100 horse, under Capt. Bravo, towards the Puntas Itapebi, to meet Cols. Lamela and Lopez who had arrived with a small force at Piedras de Dayman, from Paysandu. At the same he weakened his contingent by sending 3 companies to scour the camps S. and S. E. of San Antonio. Capt. Bravo, meeting divers groups of rebels, divided his detachment into small guerrilla parties, several of which were lost, or deserted, and the leader found himself with only 20 men on arriving at Itapebi.

Goyo Suarez with 400 men surrounded the little band, but Bravo succeeded in letting Lamas know his critical position, whereupon the General leaping into his saddle came with the remaining 150 men to the rescue. He met Bravo's detachment in precipitate flight before the filibusters, whose onset he was unable to withstand, and after abandoning a waggon and armament, left some 30 men killed or wounded, the discomfited troops made good their retreat to Salto, being chased as far as the suburbs by the enemy. Lamela and Naidal were at first supposed slain, but a courier brought intelligence that they had joined Bravo, and the rebels retiring to Itapebi it is thought some scattered divisions of militia will be able to reach head-quarters.

Two deserters from Flores have been picked up by Col. Rolla; they state that a council of war is about to be held on Salto and Paysandu by Flores and Caraballo. They add that Medina came up with the rebels near Rio Negro, and captured several horses, leaving them almost afoot.

They left Flores at Quebrado de Tucuarembo, some 10 days since, with 2000 men, Caraballo commanding the vanguard, 300 cavalry. These two fellows are blacks, and strongly suspected of being spies.

Colonel Villagran returned on the 11th to Paysandu, from an excursion near the Queguay, having met with no stragglers, although the estancias are infested with groups of armed rebels. Captain Mendoza, with nine men, was attacked by eighteen filibusters near the Arroyo Negro on the 15th, four of whom he killed, and three of the latter wounded.

The revolutionary committee continues to send Italian adventurers from Buenos Ayres (upwards of 200 arriving by the Salto were seized, and 20 others went up by the Gualeguay.

Dr. Berreyro, surgeon-general to the army, has been appointed for traitorously plotting against the Government, with the D. Ayrean committee, while holding office under Mitre, in the Nat. Executive has summoned the Chambers to an extraordinary session on the 28th inst., for the purpose of providing funds to continue the war, reforming of the constitution, and determining the steps to be taken for the coming elections. It seems the real object is to propose an arrangement with Flores.

M. Drouin de L'huys acknowledges the receipt of 3 889 silver dollars contributed by the French residents of Montevideo, for relief of cotton operatives in France. The opera company gives its farewell performance, Rigoletto, on the 22nd. It does not appear whether they will return to B. Ayres, or have already dissolved partnership.

Messrs. Nicholson and Green import from Lincolnshire, and that his preserved beef has been sold at 41m. as follows: 100 bales Golden beef at 83½ despatched; 100 do. at 84; 100 do. at 85; and another 200 bales fresh beef had no offers, and was shipped to Valparaiso for sale by auction. If such a good condition, the outside only being a little fly-blown. It is recommended to bale it in future with wire.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Paul Julien performs to-night in Colon. Almost every seat in the house is already taken. We are glad to see this celebrated violinist so very successful.

A new paper called "La Fusion" has been started in Cordoba. It is the organ of the merchants and foreigners, well edited; and we have do doubt will be well supported.

A row occurred the other night in one of the back streets between a French woman and a vigilante. The officer of justice got an unmerciful dressing for prematurely drawing an old thin sabre on the indignant Gaul.

The Government house is crammed full with resignat ions from all quarters. The judges in town, the judges in the camp, even the justices of the peace are all resigning: the military men too, Sr Galarza has sent in his resignation and it has been accepted. The Governor, we hear, is very much enraged, and throws the blame on the Ministers, who, he believes, have nearly lost their senses, by the accident which took place coming home from the races, a few weeks ago. Since that unlucky day everything is going wrong with the Provincial Executive. Some of the judges of the 1st. Instance have, we believe, expressed their opinion that the heroic Englishman who stopped the horses from dragging the coach into the precipice, should be fined heavily, for his interference in the matter.

The sanitary setting in town at present, is a good cook. People are beginning to believe now that we were right when we stated that they will have gone to join Flores. We hope that the "Raymond' will bring us some good Dublin cooks.

The 'Club del Plata' we hear, was not so gay as usual, owing to the absence of some of our city belles who have left for the suburbs. The arrangements as usual were complete, and everything passed off pretty well, considering.

Srs. Altgelt, Perber, and Co. have recently imported 50 splendid negro rams from Mecklenburg. They will be sold by auction, we believe, shortly.

To-day is the anniversary of the battle of Cepeda. Farmers who were not in this country at that period may not be aware that at this battle Urquiza defeated Vitre and the Buenos Ayrean troops, owing to the cowardice of Mitre's cavalry, they all having taken to their heels before even Urquiza's men fired. The spectacle must be a fine one when the Federals attack much importance to this day—a record of one of these eternal and ruinous South American struggles, is not only unworthy of a page in civilized history, but even in the columns of an independent English journal. We advert to it merely that our readers may comprehend the motives of those who wish to commemorate the day.

We call the attention of our readers to the auction sale of 50 tame bullocks, at Mr. White's estancia in Canuelas on the 27th inst. People who want tame bullocks for their estancias should not let the opportunity pass.

Governor Cullen, of Santa Fe, is at present in this city. We welcome him amongst us as he proved himself a good man, believes in cotton-growing and no more revolutions. We will judge more of the Governor next year by the amount of cotton which their respective provinces produce.

We regret to say that the news from San Juan is not of the most favourable. The Chucho is committing frightful depredations, and has robbed one poor fellow of a large quantity of silver ore.

The Government has sent in again before the Provincial Chambers. All sorts of absurd speculations, schemes, &c., are constantly presented to Mr. Sor. Czarn amused the house with some dreamy calculations as to the only possible means of saving the paper dollar. People are tired of the never-ending subject. The best thing we have seen respecting the old paper dollar is Mr. Hinchliff's condensed biographical sketch, which is really the best bit in this much-talked-of book. We extract the paragraphs, which will be found in the appendix.

Congress has passed a law authorising the Government to pay £1,627 19 . to the British Government for expenses incurred by the British Admiral in the soundings of the river. Also, it has ordered the President to pay the celebrated White claim, 330,000 silver dollars in 12 annual bonds, bearing 1 per cent. amortization per annum.

We understand that Mr. Stone is buying a large number of estancias in the Uruguay, with his splendid collection of maps. Nearly all the commercial houses of B. Ayres have supplied themselves with these beautiful charts we have ever seen, and price reasonable.

The new Liverpool steamers complain seriously of the fearful port dues exacted for light ship. The tariff was made for vessels of 300 or 400 tons burden, and not for 2000 or 3000. A vessel of 2000 tons is charged 421 sterling! This calls for an alteration.

The boa-constrictor of S. Fernando has not since been seen; he is difficult to determine whether he is living in retirement near Las Conchas, or has returned up the river.

The new road calle Aries complain with much reason that the pavement of their street has been commenced near the Barracas, where Dn. Lorenzo Torres has most kindly given a house, but calle Cordoba the street is left in a state of primitive rudeness. This looks like Peru.

Fears of drought are pretty general and all accounts from the South are gloomy. The weather, however, seems to portend rain, for we have had the beneficent showers to rescue the country from a greater evil than war itself.

The Uruguay and Raymond are hourly expected. The former, 39 days out, will bring us five days later news than last mail. The latter, seventy days out, will bring us four months later and to provide our sheep-farmers with hands for shearing. Most of the passengers have taken out to engage in the interior, a few bring capital to start for themselves, with sheep; and a priest and a surgeon attend them, who will probably fix their residence in this country. We understand that the National Government is disposed to give the passengers by the Uruguay 10 leagues of land on Santa Fe bank of the Parana, but they will hardly accept it.

ALARMING INTELLIGENCE.

We regret to convey to our readers the afflicting news that the mole is going to pieces. Some villains have actually pulled up a six foot plank right in front of the little guard house, where the officers of the custom house were so polite to Mr. Hinchliff. Now it is a monstrous, sanctorious, scandalous, horrible, outrageous fact, that notwithstanding the hundreds who continually pass this dangerous place, no one thinks of mending it. The mind recoils with horror at the accidents which probably every night take place at this municipal man trap—the crossing of the Cumbre pass at the Andes, in the middle of winter is nothing in comparison to coming up the mole at night time.

The "hole in the mole," which we so frequently complained of, was a small affair, as only one at a time could fall in, but the "ravine" open now will swallow up a whole ship's crew.

If we called the Captain of the Port a rascal, and the Chief of Police still worse, for allowing the mole to go to pieces, in the midst of human life, we might possibly put ourselves within the power of the Argentine law; we must therefore ask him from such epithets, and call our readers that the public officers whose duty it is to mind the mole and have it repaired are what is termed "Argentine cabalieros." Why is not send the Chief of Police and Captain of the Port to prison for such neglect?

THE INDIANS.

Mr. Bliss's report on the Chaco Indians has been sent into the Government. It is a highly interesting document, and worthy the attention of every inhabitant of this republic. Mr. B. points out the means by which we can be rid of these desolating invasions. We hope that Dr. Rawson will study it.

Coinciding with everything which we have urged on Government respecting the friendly relations we should, and could, preserve with the savages, Mr. B. points out the means to realize so happy a result. Could an inventory be taken of the yearly loss of life and property committed by the Indians brought on by a set of haughty politicians, we doubt not that the public would agree with us in saying that the Indian question is second to none. The Government, however, in sending Mr. Bliss up amongst the Indians, seems to have acted in a way to use most enlightened policy. We shall publish in a few days Mr. Bliss's report, and trust his advice will be adopted by President Mitre.

Hinchliff on the Paper Dollar.

Forty years ago a dollar meant a dollar of rather more than four shillings in the River Plate as well as in North America; but, in an evil hour, the Bank of Buenos Ayres was nationalised, and came very soon so completely under the control of the Government, as to be compelled to afford almost any accommodation they required. The consequences were very soon apparent, remarks Sr. W. Parish, 'the wants of the Government increasing, the Bank was obliged, in order to provide for them, to increase its issues, which, are being restricted on an enormously small fund in proportion to its real capital. The aid of the Legislature was again called in, the notes were declared a legal tender for their nominal value, and the Bank was relieved by law from the obligation of paying them in specie. Gold rose rapidly to the then lowest ebb, and its notes became proportionately depreciated." The downward progress was remarkably rapid; for in less than three years of this experiment, from 1825 to 1828, the dollar was reduced in value to one shilling, being three years of this experiment, from 1825 to 1828, the dollar was reduced in value to one shilling, being three-fourths of its nominal value. The war with Brazil then terminated, and the pining, dwindling dollar made an attempt to rally and recover its value. For a time it succeeded in keeping itself up to the value of two shillings, but this was merely a hectic flush of life, and very soon, sunk, and at last was considered to look pretty well at 2½d. sterling. In the excitement of last year's war, when I was at Buenos Ayres, the spiritual party secretly commanded more money for the annihilation of the Urquizista faction, and it was determined that, in the extremity of danger, and even liberty, the poor wretches fighting dollar should be squeezed and bled again. Several large contributions were made, and the SILLY RADICAL NEWSPAPERS bragged and crowed as if they had discovered a gold mine. In the first flush of joy the paper they were so pleased with their success they called for fifty millions more; but the doctors who understood the case felt the pulse of their old friend, and gravely said he was so exhausted that he could bear no more. In fact the paper dollar, which is the universal standard currency, in Buenos Ayres, is now worth less than twopence, and it was felt that a further emission of such notes would probably reduce them to no higher value than that of the paper they are printed upon. The evils of such a currency are manifold: one is that people naturally become careless about small sums. It is almost impossible to count the bundles of dirty scraps of paper that that are put into your hand, and sums of twenty-pounds or shillings are soon thought scarcely worth of the pence in England—Hinchliff's South American Sketches, pages 50-52.

The Argentine Central Railway

We are happy to say that the subscription for the stock of this company still progresses. In Tucuman, which is one of the provinces least benefited by the proposed road, no less than 138 shares have been subscribed for. The affairs of this company seem singularly fortunate, notwithstanding all the calumniating letters sent from this place to London. Mr. Wheelwright has been able to effect, in a few months what neither the genius of our statesmen nor the influence of one of our greatest capitalists could realise in almost as many years.

We look forward to the returns from the other provinces with every hope, and feel satisfied that Mr. Wheelwright was right in his calculation, when he supposed that two millions of the stock would be subscribed for in this country. If so much for the zeal and energy which is devoted to politics, revolutions, and regenerations, were brought to bear on railways and cotton planting, what a different country would not this republic be! Nevertheless, we must live in hope: the day may yet come, and railways and rails will triumph over all. It is for this end we are working.

THE BOLSA.

This frequented edifice is at present undergoing some slight changes; the 'algibe' has been opened, and a splendid marble pump put up by the locality, however, selected for the operation is not the most desirable, as expectorating brokers may possibly mistake the marble 'brocal' for an Argentine spittoon.

The Bolsa Hall is much too small for the commerce of Buenos Ayres, and at times so inconveniently crowded, that even the most experienced frequenters cannot maintain their positions.

It is necessary that the public should know that the Hall of the Bolsa is, as it were by common consent, subdivided into nationalities and occupations. The English merchant take the lion's share, close up to the big black board; further on, our Teutonic friends are to be seen at work. On the opposite side, that is to say, from the entrance to the liquidation room, is a motley crowd of native produce and ounce brokers, interspersed with our French and Italian friends. The Americans muster weak on the Bolsa, and generally 'congregate' to the right of the entrance. There, again, where is the English bankers, who with portly steps and calculating eyes walk up and down their accustomed places; at a respectful distance is the English shipbrokers' rendezvous, where greasy tar sparkles and hotyed bone-nails, are eternally the topics of conversation. The English ounce brokers range always to the north of the speculating sailing—behind them are invariably seated the Portuguese. To the left of the entrance jerked beef men predominate; and facing Mr. Hom's price current board, where the prices of grease are always, about two o'clock to be seen, smoking contemptible Bahias, then, coming in the centre of a small beneath, above below, are the native ounce brokers.

The secretary's room, like the President's office, abounds in scenes of the industrial wealth of the country, in front of which is the liquidation room, where only brokers are allowed to congregate.

On either side of the hall-door is a sort of waiting or accommodation-room, where one can get a glass of wine or count his pile of paper money secure from interruption.

The stairs lead to the reading-room, which is light and airy, but ill supplied with foreign papers; immediately following is the board-room. Such is the Bolsa.

Thanks to the exertions of the talented secretary, we notice great improvements in the Bolsa recently; the old stairs are hung with paper hangings, the slate is regularly swept with the arrivals and sailings, and last, not least, the porter has got a new hat, and smiles.

CANUELAS.

Oct. 21, 1863.

A second time you can see the iron girders of the new church ready to receive its stones of bricks and tiles. It is greatly feared that they will be a heavy roof, and at one time it was suggested a roof of sheet-iron would be a safer and lighter one. Report says it is be finished before the next winter, but at present the shearing is occupying all spare hands. The village is undoubtedly 'tristy,' nothing to excite the people further than the great race of Villegas' horse and that of Don Guillermo M'Cleymont's of the Toturol, who retained his renowned credit in his trusty Malleco. It is reported that the late Justice of Peace, Don José Abrugin, intends auctioning a number of cart bullocks at Mr. White's estancia on Tuesday next, where he proposes a "carne con cuero." Won't you come?

LATEST FROM MONTEVIDEO.

(Our own correspondent.)

Lamas has done a good thing at last, i. e. given cause to remove him; he is ordered to join Medina's corps. Lucas Piris is appointed to the chief military command in the departments of Salto and Paysandu (and some say Tacuarembo also), which is what ought to have been done long since. Juan Lenguas is named chief of the Litoral, that is, having the towns of Salto, Paysandu, &c., under his immediate charge. The battalion "Fernandez," that was with Morena, near 400 strong, has embarked to day for Paysandu, to remain there in garrison, infantry of course; they go in the Villa del Salto. You will see by the papers that the Chambers are convoked for the 28th, to treat of Constitution, &c. In short, something is doing in the right sense, and I have full confidence in the results of Federico Nin's policy and tact. There is no late news of Medina, but it is said that he was coming to Durazno. All Moreno's divisions have gone to their departments, and Maymo, among them, to Cerro Largo.

SMALL-POX.—We regret to learn that this scourge is carrying off fourteen persons daily in Guelguenchu. It is also prevalent in the camps of this province, as very little attention is paid by natives to the precaution of vaccinating their children.

SPECIE, commonly called here Metalico.—In an article on the value of specie or metalico existing in the United States of America, we find the small item of $111 millions silver introduced by immigration only, in the space of 20 years. Query—Ought we not to do something, say pay a premium for immigration, which would buy our currency.

MISCELLANY.

PENCIL SKETCH OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—Abraham Lincoln is a man above the medium height. He passes the six feet mark by an inch or two. He his raw-boned, stumble-gaited, bow-legged, knock-kneed, pigeon-toed, swob-sided, a shapeless skeleton in a very tough, very dirty, unwholesome skin. His hair is or was black and shaggy, his eyes dark and fireless, like a coal grate in winter time. His lips are large and protrude beyond the natural level of the face, but are pale and smeared with tobacco juice. His teeth are filthy. In our juvenile days we were struck with Virgil's description of the ferryman who rowed the disembodied souls of men over the river of death. Inadvertent memory fails us not, must be near kinsman of that official of the other world. At all events they look alike, and such a relationship he claimed when Abraham reaches the ferry, he will be able, we do not doubt, to go over free of toll. In the next place, his voice is coarse, untutored, harsh—the voice of one who has no intellect, and less moral nature. His manners are low in the extreme, and where his talk is not obscene, it is senseless. In a word, Lincoln, born and bred a rail-splitter is a rail-splitter still. Bottom he always was not more out of place in the lap of Titania than he on the throne of the ex republics. And this is the man who, incapable of a stronger or higher inspiration than that of revenge, aspires to be master of the South, as he is of the enslaved and slavish North. This is the man who bids armies rise and fight, and commands and dismisses Generals at will. This is the man who proclaims (as such could only do) the equality of the race, black with white. This is the man who incites servile insurrection, ordains plunder, and encourages rapine. This is the man who trembles not at the horrible butchery which heaven will call him to answer for, yet quakes like an aspen at the approach of peril to his own poor carcass. This is the man, in fine, who has been elected by the powers of evil as the only fit representative in all America to do such dark deeds as the dark ages only know, deeds which civilization blushes to record, and men in other lands refuse to credit. Kneel down and kiss his royal feet, men of the South.—Chattanooga Rebel.

POULTRY FOR THE MILLION.—The marvel and mystery of our importation of eggs and poultry from the continent are as great as they were ten years ago. We are always saying, all over the country, that we cannot conceive why we do not raise fowls enough to supply our own needs, seeing how cheaply they may be managed, and how little trouble they give. It used to be supposed that every cottager on any common, or in any lane, had fowls stepping and picking about his gable-end; and it has been considered an evidence of the dullness of the labouring class in the rural districts that they have not extended their poultry rearing as the demand from the towns increased. We see fowls swarming in every farmyard, and round the mailster's and dilliter's granaries; and here and there we hear of an establishment for the rearing of poultry alone; but the wants of the population are very far indeed from being met. Even if we raised fowls enough to supply the table of the gentry as at present, we should have to ask why other people should not eat poultry as well as the gentry. If there were poultry enough raised every cottager in the country and every town labourer might as well have a fowl for his dinner as a rasher of bacon. The high price is altogether artificial, as any traveller in a variety of countries can tell. It is the scarcity which makes the high prices, and it is the desultory and unprogressive way in which the rearing of fowls is managed which causes the profits of that department so precarious as we are assured they are. The experience of foreigners justifies us in the conclusion.—Once a Week.

SEEKING IN THE MORNING.—A little boy, 13 years of age, named Henry Lowry, residing near Peckham rye, was on Tuesday night expelled his home by his mother for some trifling misdemeanour. He at once ran away to a corn field close by, and lying down in the open air fell asleep. He slept throughout the night, which was a moonlight one. Some labourers on their way to work, early in the day, apparently asleep, aroused him; the lad opened his eyes, but declared he could not rise. He was conveyed home, and from thence to an ordinary institution, where medical advice was obtained. The surgeon affirmed that the loss of sight resulted from sleeping in the moonshine. The boy is totally blind, and few hopes are entertained of his recovery.

A rumour has been spread of a projected alliance, in which one of the contracting parties would be the Princess Mathilde.—Mid-Middlesex. We believe there is no foundation for the report.—Court Journal.

The ladies took so prominent a part in the late election of a member of Parliament for Ludlow, that the returning officer, instead of addressing the assembly as one of "free and independent electors," opened his speech with "Ladies and gentlemen."

REPORTED MEXICAN LOAN—PARIS, SEPTEMBER 2.—It is reported in financial circles that a Mexican loan of 500,000,000f. is likely to be raised on the security of the mines, and guaranteed by France. Part of the loan is to meet the wants of the Mexican Government, the other part to indemnify the French Government.

ON 'CHANGE

Liverpool Cotton Market, Oct. 28.

Ounces were extremely firm all day. They opened at 420, and closed at 420. There was very little done in Orleans; the business was too small to discover the reason of such unusual dullness. Only 3264 ounces were sold, of which 814 were for cash.

Corn.—A fair trade for large parcels of ounces about to us made for the end of the year, but cannot as yet publish the rate, as the business has not yet been closed.

Cotton is, at last, beginning to be talked of on the Rolus. We are informed, on the best authority, that the Entre Rios about one million of plants are coming up; 150,000 are planted at Villa Urquiza, 30,000 by Don. M. Agelle, 2,000 by Capt. Daniel Anchey, and the remainder by various others. In Corrientes, we believe we to not exaggerate when we say that millions of plants are already over the ground.

It was rumoured on the Rolus that Don Reyes had made terms with Urquiza, but we cannot guarantee the statement.

Something was done in Exchange to-day on Portugal and Brazil, but not any amount of importance, at previous rates.

The British barque Scout has been chartered for Valparaiso, part cargo £500.

Messrs. J. P. Boyd and Co. have placed on the berth for Valparaiso, the Queen Bee. Part of her cargo is engaged.

The 30 shares of the Buenos Ayres Northern Railway Company, which we noticed in yesterday's paper, are not the class of shares at present quoted, but a deferred class, which we are informed is without quotation.

The Uruguay, from Liverpool, is hourly expected.

In the port of Plata to-day, there was a small lot of very good new wool, from Pilar, sold at 90.

Some small parcels of new wool have now come to market, but as yet none which merit sufficient importance to put a price on the same. We are told, however, that they are, less orders from Europe this year than last, and owing to the extraordinary increase of sheep in the country, that the quality of Buenos Ayres River Plate woods are less looked after. Buyers are very stiff in their pretensions, refusing to give purchases their instructions until after the arrival of the November English packet; but the general impression is, that prices will not be so easily obtainable this year as last. 75 to 80, is what buyers talk of. It remains to be seen if holders will give way so far.

We are happy to say that it has raised plentifully at Carmen de Areco and Chascomus.

Passengers and cargo

The A1 British barque FLORIE sails on the 27th inst., has still room for a small portion of freight and excellent accommodation for Cabin and Steerage Passengers, for whom she is fitted out in a manner. The vessel carries experienced Surgeon.

ALL CURES SURE! EASY!!

BY

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Bad Legs, Obscene Sores, Bad Breasts, and Old Wounds.

No description of wound, sore, or ulcer can resist the healing influence of this celebrated Ointment. The skin is so rendered supple and healthy, and the cure so rapidly effected, that it is impossible to find a case which it does not benefit. A trial may always be effected, at a cost of a few shillings, and the result is a perfect cure guaranteed to follow its use.

Sore Throats, Diphtheria, Quinsey, Mumps, and all other Derangements of the Throat.

On the appearance of any of these maladies, the Ointment should be well rubbed at least three times a day upon the neck and upon the chest, so as to penetrate to the affected parts, as well as be forced into most of the glands which secrete the mucous membranes and organs. The wrapper will point to this treatment by following the printed directions.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bad Legs	Contracted	Piles	Scalds
Bad Breasts	Chapped	Gout	Sore throats
Bites	Corns (hard)	Glandular	Skin diseases
Blotches	Corns (soft)	Swellings	Sore heads
Bite of Mos quitoes	Chilblains	Lumbago	Stubborn
Coco bay	Contracted	Files	Ulcers
Chigoe foot	Cancers	Rheumatism	Wounds
Chigoe-foot	Elephantiasis	Ringworm	Yaws
Coughs cold	Rheumatism	Sore Nipples	Fevers

Both at the Establishment of Professor Holloway, 244, Strand, (near Temple Bar), London, and by all respectable Vendors of Medicines throughout the civilized world, at the following prices:—Pots, 1s. 3d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., and 22s. each.

N.B. There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each pot.

CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS
Dor—Mr. Pongeard, of the London Uni t ersity College
This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronised by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an E nglish School, where a sound commercial e ducation combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.
An over-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of o der and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the morals and behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.
The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French, and Spanish languages, History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Rudiments of Instruction.
Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, German, Music and Drawing are also taught by special masters.
The situation of the English Grammar School, in one of the most eligible Quintas on the Calle Larga de Barracas, at the very gates of the City, is one of the most healthful and picturesque in the environs of Buenos Ayres.
